John Butler

“Financial Market Implications of the US Dollar's Diminishing Reserve Status”

Monday October 21st 12:15pm at the Northern Club

John Butler, a former managing director at Deutsche Bank and Lehman Brothers, is now Managing Partner and Chief Investment Officer of Amphora Capital, a boutique investment and advisory firm based in London. He has 20 years' experience in the global financial industry, having worked in London, New York and Germany.

Prior to launching Amphora Capital, he was Head of the Index Strategies Group at Deutsche Bank in London, where he developed systematic quantitative strategies for global interest rate markets and prior to that, he was Head of European Interest Rate Strategy at Lehman Brothers where he and his team were voted #1 in the Institutional Investor research survey.

His research has been cited by the Financial Times and the Wall Street Journal. He is also the author of The Golden Revolution and a regular contributor to various financial publications and websites.

We are very pleased to host this event in New Zealand, as John Butler was sponsored last year by CFA Institute to deliver a similar presentation in London, Russia, South Africa, Sweden and Switzerland. Don't miss this opportunity!
